

Here Are Some Recent NYC Restaurant Observations

George Embiricos

December 14, 2017

We'd like to believe that we have keen eyes — and ears — when it comes to all things in the NYC restaurant scene. After all, the Big Apple is home to Food Republic HQ and our editorial team is somewhere between mildly and moderately obsessed with keeping up to date with the city's latest and greatest openings. Okay, maybe heavily so. Without further ado, and in no particular order, here are nine tidbits over the past week or so from around the city that caught our eye, often raising an eyebrow in the process.

2. A $98 Peking duck at one of the city's most highly anticipated restaurants (DaDong).